

Terms and Conditions

By submitting an online payment, I agree that there is a balance sufficient to pay all requested payments, and agree that the Consolidated Community Credit Union is not liable for any overdraft or insufficient fund situation or charge (including, but not limited to, finance charges, late fees or similar charges) caused by my failure to maintain funds sufficient to pay the payment amount I indicated. I understand that that the holder of my credit or debit card may charge cash advance fees, and it is my responsibility to be aware of these.

Payment Authorization, Remittance and Fees

You attest to being an authorized user of the source account. You agree to follow account and card guidelines for all source accounts. You authorize us to follow your payment instructions. When we receive a payment instruction from you, you authorize us to debit or charge your source account for the amount of any payment plus any related fees in effect at the time you initiate the payment instruction and to remit funds on your behalf.

You acknowledge and agree that a fee may be charged to you to process transactions pursuant to this agreement. Any such fees will be disclosed to you prior to completing the payment instruction. You hereby agree to pay any applicable fees that may be charged. You also authorize us to credit your source account in the event that any payments are returned. In order to process payments more effectively, we may edit or alter payment data or data formats. We will use reasonable efforts to complete your payments properly. However, we are not liable if the service is unable to complete any payments initiated because of the existence of any of the following circumstances or other reasons identified in this agreement:

- Source account does not contain sufficient funds
- If our payment processing center is not working properly and you know or have been made aware of the malfunction before you execute the transaction
- If you have not provided us with the correct source account information
- If your debit or credit card is expired
- If circumstances beyond our control (such as, but not limited to, fire, flood, or other acts of God, third party systems or interference from an outside force) prevent the proper execution of the transaction
- If you failed to follow our instructions for the use of the service

Provided none of the exceptions are applicable, if we cause an incorrect amount of funds to be removed from your source account or cause funds from your source account to be directed in a manner that does not comply with your payment instructions, our sole responsibility to you shall be to return the improperly transferred funds to your source account or to direct any previously misdirected payments to the billing entity.

You are responsible for ensuring that there are sufficient funds available in your source account to cover any amount you authorize for payment. If you do not have sufficient funds in your source account, your payment may not be processed. Your payment may not be processed after a credit or debit card expires.

In the event your payment is not processed for any reason, including the failure to obtain an authorization from your card issuer or financial institution or you have not provided us with the correct information, your liability shall
